About Hexa Group

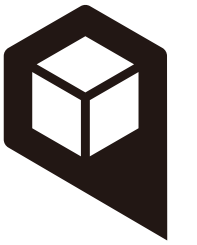

Hexa Group is an Australian based property development group with local expertise and global strength. Collaboration and diversification give them the capability and confidence to deliver consistent results. They share their successes with their business partners, investors, and the communities in which they operate.

Hexa Group's operational headquarters is based in Melbourne, Victoria. Their enterprises and projects have provided many jobs for Australians. Their primary focus is property development which includes volume townhouse projects, multi-level residential apartment buildings and commercial-use ventures. This is complemented by property development, real-estate investment, asset management and a capital management platform.

Hexa creates secure foundations and firm bonds. They are fascinated by the subtleties in projects. They understand the connections between every granular component and draw them together for strength and sophistication. Their people and their business partners share a commitment to progress and to continually improve.

About Ucommune

Ucommune is China's largest co-working operator. Ucommune is situated across 42 cities in Greater China as well as Singapore and New York City. Ucommune provides advertising & branding services, incubation & corporate venturing services, tax & finance services, human resource services, legal services, design & build services, as well as IT support to empower enterprise and individual members.

Through hard work, Ucommune have redefined the working culture and positioned themselves as an iconic brand in China's urban life. They have built a unique nationwide platform, distinguishing themselves through a seamless integration of physical spaces offline and member community online, to empower their members to fulfill their dreams.

They provide their members with flexible and dynamic workspaces and services in response to their diversified business needs, convenient and high-quality facilities for their people to learn and live, and an open and vibrant environment to connect, share, grow and succeed. Relentlessly, they are fostering their intelligent co-working ecosystem on a global scale, where their members can leverage their network to unleash their potential and collectively create maximum value.
